Kelowna Celebrates 60 Glorious Years

AROUND B.C.

Hotel Burns At Smithers

SMITHERS (CP)—Fire Monday destroyed the 12-room Topley Hotel in the small community of Topley 70 miles east of here. The hotel contained the town's only grocery store and a post office. There were no injuries. Damage was expected to be in excess of $20,000.

TALKS END

NELSON (CP)—Secretary A. Grodzki of the Canadian Union of Public Employees said Monday the local here has applied for appointment of a conciliation officer following breakdown of negotiations with Nelson City council over a new contract.

"NO CREDIT"

TRAIL (CP)—All but four of 32 service stations in this district Monday put into effect a "No Credit" policy. A spokesman for the Automotive Retailers' Association in Trail, Rossland, Fruitvale and Castlegar said all non-cash business would be done on cash company credit cards.

MIDWAY MARK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Allan M. McGavin, co-chairman of the Three Universities Capital Fund, reported Monday the fund has reached the midway mark toward its $25,000,000 goal. The total had increased more than $1,250,000 in the last week. Mr. McGavin said so far the fund has received $3,697,000 from firms in Eastern Canada.

CLUB ENTERED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Burglars fled with a $100 cheque, $5 in silver and a $50 gold wrist watch during the weekend after the Vancouver Canucks Hockey Club headquarters here, police said Monday. The watch belonged to club general manager Max McNab.

RCMP Officer Hurt By Bomb

COWANSVILLE, Que. (CP)—An RCMP corporal was injured here Monday when a bomb he was examining exploded. The bomb had been found by the provincial police beside a near-by rail line.

Col. Georges Poirier of Cowansville was reported in satisfactory condition with burns to the left hand and leg.

The bomb, which police described as cylindrical and about a foot long, was found on a railway bed at Noyan, Que., 35 miles southeast of Montreal. It was brought to Cowansville, where the provincial police called on the RCMP to examine it.

BINGO WEDNESDAY AND NOT TONIGHT

Wednesday, May 5 and not Tuesday, May 4, is the correct date of the Kelowna Lions Club giant bingo in the Memorial Arena.

A mistake in the Daily Courier Monday had May 5 as a Tuesday.

But the big night is definitely Wednesday and Lions hope to draw thousands to the good cause in the arena.

The Lions want to hit their target of $2,000 towards the $20,000 service clubs fund for furnishing the new wing of the Dr. Lloyd-Jones Home for Senior Citizens.

Ottawa May Aid Valley Growers After "Disaster"

OTTAWA — (Special) Ottawa may come to the aid of the Okanagan fruit growers hit by what has been termed "a disaster".

December and March frosts dealt severe damage to the vulnerable soft-fruit crops and inspections in the past 10 days have shown damage to some pear and apple orchards. Full extent of the damage will not be assessed for a few weeks yet.

But alerting the government of the situation in the Valley, David Pugh, (PC-Okanagan-Boundary), said the government should be ready to come to the assistance of the hard-hit fruit industry if an appeal for financial aid be made.

Mr. Pugh asked Agriculture Minister Harry Hays if he were aware of the situation.

Mr. Hays said he was familiar with the situation and was in consultation at all times with the minister of agriculture in B.C.

Mr. Pugh asked if Mr. Hays would keep in touch with the officials so that when the losses were fully calculated, a program of aid, in conjunction with the

The minister pointed out that last year a crop insurance plan had been set up in which all provinces could participate and the federal government would pay 50 per cent of the premiums and half of the administrative cost. He said he hoped B.C. would see fit to implement such an insurance plan so that the fruit industry could participate.

"I did not wish to leave the impression that we have had anything less than a disaster to the fruit industry," Mr. Pugh said.

"My question was on a soft note because I want to make sure the minister is aware of the situation. Secondly, exclusive of crop insurance I hope the minister will keep his mind on the losses and will at the proper time be able to assess the situation and see if there is responsibility on the part of the federal government and whether it would come to the aid of the province and the fruit industry."

"I thank the member for all his suggestions," Mr. Hays replied.

provision, might be made available.

normal pear crop. We anticipate no commercial crop of Bartlett and half the normal crop of Anjou.

Outside the house, Mr. Pugh said estimates of soft fruit losses run to $6,000,000 and on apples the figure could be much higher. If many trees had been killed it would take up to 10 years for new replacement trees to produce commercial fruit.

In the meantime, the growers faced almost all their normal expenses, including the need for a full spraying program. If apples are badly hit, the famous provincial brand of apple products would be in jeopardy, he said.

Frank Morton, horticulturist for the area from Duck Lake to Okanagan Mission, said today: "We have to wait for apple blossoms time to assess the crop potential."

"Blossom time is normally May 10 and we are less than a week behind this year," he said.

"We are not a large commercial peach producing area here, but there will be no commercial crop."

"We will have a third of the

Incorporation Anniversary Marked By Many Functions

Sixty years ago today Kelowna was incorporated. There will be no admission charge.

To mark the occasion a number of functions are planned in the city, primarily to honor Ald. L. A. N. Potterton and his very large committee that has done so much to the present high status of Kelowna.

"City council hopes that as many people as possible will attend the functions," said Mayor Dick Parkinson at city council Monday night.

The mayor, along with some 120 others, will be honored to night at a civic banquet arranged by the Lions club. He is one of those who was born in Kelowna and has lived here all his life.

"The celebrations will not be spectacular, they have been arranged to do justice to the anniversary without spending a large sum of money."

"The films that will be shown in the late afternoon and evening are well worth seeing, and there will be no admission charge."

I would like to compliment Ald. L. A. N. Potterton and his very large committee that has done so much to the present high status of Kelowna.

Engraved certificates will be presented to those long-time residents who are being honored at the banquet.

The engineering department designed and erected six types of plaques to add to the Bernard Ave. decorations and they will remain in place for the week.

All schools in the district have been asked to send representatives to a track meet starting at 5 p.m. in city park oval. During the meet, at approximately 6:30 p.m., Ald. Dave Chapman will officially open the newly surfaced track.

At 4 p.m., again at 8 p.m., and at 9:30 p.m. the public premier free show at the Jubilee Bowl of "Okanagan Safari" will be shown at the community theatre.

The sound and color picture shows the Okanagan Valley through the eyes of a tourist and Mayor Parkinson, who has already seen the film, said Monday night Kelowna would be proud of its part in the 60th anniversary.

Along with it will be a color film on the Rogers Pass. Ald. L. A. N. Potterton will address the theatre audience at 4 p.m. and Ald. Jack Bedford will be on hand at the evening shows.

At 6 p.m. the banquet, for invited guests, will be held at the Aquatic.

At sundown there will be a free show at the Jubilee Bowl and later the fire department will put on a demonstration on the city park tarmac just prior to a gigantic fireworks display off the hotel sands.

In honor of the city jubilee and its own 60th anniversary, which actually occurred last summer, The Daily Courier is now in process of producing a very large anniversary edition.

It will carry many stories of the history of Kelowna and its immediate district, along with tales told by those who have lived here, some as far back as 1872. The special edition now has been some two months in preparation and will be published May 30.

possessing them be given some guarantee of security.

Chakravarty made clear India's preference for a UN guarantee in offering five main points he said should be considered by the 17-country disarmament committee in Geneva.

When the committee resumes detailed negotiations, Chakravarty assailed Communist China for exploding a nuclear device in what he said was defiance of the limited test ban treaty.

He said China's actions "need to be countered and we trust the international community will take note of the affront given to it and the damage" caused by the test explosion.

The United States has endorsed the idea of seeking an agreement to halt the proliferation of nuclear weapons and has suggested that countries not quit politics and devote their full efforts to the war against the Viet Cong.

The appearance of the armored vehicles appeared to be more of a precaution than an indication of impending trouble. Leaders of at least two earlier attempted coups still are at large in the country.

There has been a severe drain on the gold and hard currency hoard for the last year because of a chronic adverse balance in international trade and the need to support the pound sterling at the pegged price of $2.80 (U.S.) on international monetary exchange.

The rise in April may have been due in part to a 15-per cent surcharge on imports imposed by the Labor government last October.

Wholesale Prices Show Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—The general wholesale price index, based on 1939-39 prices equalling 100, rose to 247.6 in April from 246.8 in March and 245.2 in April, 1964, the bureau of statistics announced.

Campaign Of Terror Seen If Dominica Reds Beaten

WASHINGTON (CP) — AP

The Associated Press reports that U.S. officials see a "serious possibility" that as peace is restored in the Dominican Republic Communist leaders might go underground or take to the countryside with plans to wage a campaign of terror and subversion.

AP correspondent John Highower said that the U.S. government is represented by authorities here as being determined to make sure that as far as possible all measures will be taken to eliminate any danger of a Communist seizure of power before U.S. troops leave the war-torn Caribbean island.

President Johnson said in a speech here Monday night that "we don't propose to sit here on our rocking chair with our hands folded and let the Communists set up a government anywhere in this hemisphere."

Johnson reaffirmed in his talk to a meeting of the AFL-CIO building trades department has determination to see that peace is established and that the Dominican people are given real hope of stability in government before U.S. forces leave the Dominican Republic. When those requirements are met, he said, "We'll be the first to come back home."

The president also emphasized his hope that the Organization of American States, with a committee now active in efforts to restore peace and order, will take a leading role in resolving the Dominican crisis.

RECEIVE SETBACK

At the Pan American Union, where the OAS is meeting now almost daily, U.S. hopes for quick action on the proposal to create an inter-American military force received a setback.

The council met Monday night but failed to take final action on the proposal under which other American nations would share in the Dominican operation with the United States. It agreed to meet again today at 3 p.m.

to outline his request and also review conditions in both Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

In Viet Nam, he said, American firmness "may already have brought us much closer to peace." Yet he said he sees no possibilities at the moment for negotiation and that the United States will continue to hit the North Vietnamese Communists.

In discussing the Dominican situation, Johnson once again hit at what he called efforts of Communists to seize control of the revolutionary faction supporting the return of ousted president Juan Bosch.

Johnson Seeks Immediate Action To Pay For Two Battle Fronts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked the U.S. Congress today to act immediately on a bid for an extra $700,000,000 to support United States operations in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

Johnson said that providing this money would be a demonstration of "a firm and irrevocable commitment of our people and our nation, whatever the risk, or whatever the cost" in the two trouble spots.

He gathered members of the House of Representatives and Senate foreign affairs, armed services and appropriations committees in the White House government's banking policy.

He said if B.C. does not bring up the federal government's proposals to stop provinces from investing in chartered banks, Quebec certainly will.

At the last session of the B.C. legislature a bill was passed that permitted the government to invest in any chartered bank in Canada.

Mr. Bennett told his press conference that Mr. Black will present a brief at the conference but he would not say what it would contain.

"I never fight," he said. "We will state our position clearly but never strongly."

Bennett Won't Travel To Talks On Controversial Bank Issue

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia will not attend a Dominion-Provincial conference at which one of the major topics is expected to be federal proposals that would block B.C. banking plans.

Mr. Bennett said at a press conference Monday night that Provincial Secretary Wesley Black will attend the May 31 conference in Ottawa.

Mr. Bennett and five of his cabinet ministers will be on a Japanese tour at the time.

Revenue Minister Eric Kierans of Quebec has said that the conference will see "one terrific battle" over the federal government's banking policy.

He said if B.C. does not bring up the federal government's proposals to stop provinces from investing in chartered banks, Quebec certainly will.

ALL QUEEN'S HORSES SICK, AND MEN RED-FACED

What's Afoot In Cavalry?

LONDON (CP)—Equine flu is keeping London police horses in their stalls, de-horning jockeys and causing red-faced cavalrymen to change the guard on foot.

Some 40 police horses were ill today—coughing in their stables—and authorities were hoping to keep the sickness from spreading among any more of London's 200 police horses.

Tourists were denied the most colorful free show in London—the changing of the guard at the Horse Guards parade on Whitehall.

The guard was being changed as usual, of course, but without horses since the flu is raging among the 200 proud steeds of the Household Cavalry.

The youngest member of Parliament, David Steel, 28-year-old Liberal newly elected in a Scottish-border constituency by-election, charged Monday night that government red tape is holding up 2,000 doses of an American vaccine which could combat the coughing epidemic.

"A fantastic situation," said Steel.

The sickness usually runs two or three weeks and many race horses have been afflicted, causing consternation among punters and bookies throughout the spring.

Professor William Miller, director of the Equine Research Station at Newmarket, said a British vaccine will be on the market this week.

PREMIER LESAGE

Quebec Treaties: "No Deadlock"

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage of Quebec came back from Ottawa early Tuesday, declaring there is "no deadlock" in his province's treaty-making claims on Ottawa.

The premier and his education minister flew to the federal capital Monday evening for a discussion of the issue over support with Prime Minister Pearson.

Education Minister Paul Gelin-Lajoie has declared in recent policy statements that Quebec feels free to conclude international agreements on matters within its jurisdiction. The federal government replied that only it can sign pacts with foreign governments.

Two Resolutions Passed At Final Library Meet

The B.C. Library association annual convention in Kelowna passed two resolutions on the May 2. A third resolution was defeated.

Macdonald Report Revised A Little By Member Of Original Team

A few revisions to the Macdonald report were offered Sunday by Professor R. J. Baker, the B.C. library association's president. The two-day meeting began at 8:30 a.m. Sunday and continued at noon Monday.

The guest speaker is director of academic planning at Simon Fraser University and was a member of the Macdonald report committee.

I am now convinced more than ever that the Macdonald report was right in recommending a junior college for the Okanagan, he said.

It is only after going through the experience of setting up Simon Fraser university, that I have a few ideas about the future of the college.

An institution should begin as it intends to finish. If you intend the college to be a two-year college, begin with that in mind. If you intend it to be a degree-granting university, then begin that way. Don't say you can begin one way and develop.

It means an enormous difference in your whole setup. Your faculty must be chosen with the final end in mind and your library set up will be different, just to name a few.

"Size is important for a junior college. You must set it up with the hope of enrolling 750 to 1,000 within a couple of years."

The B.C. library association is an individual member.

Get a few young ambitious people, a principal, librarian and a couple of departmental heads and let them use their own ideas. They'll develop new ideas but they'll develop new ideas.

Canada doesn't have any trained staff for junior colleges, the idea is so new, but get a few young men and trust them. They will like the challenge.

Some people say it will be difficult to transfer from a junior college to a university. This will be the case if the college is actually doing better at university than if they had started there.

STANDARDS

We intend to accept transfers, and send back a report on them at the end of each semester. This will and the new college is setting their standards.

There is a danger of new colleges setting them too high in the beginning, neither should they be set too low.

With our three public universities, one private, our two-year college systems, technology institute and vocational schools, this province could end up with the best educational system in Canada," Professor Baker said.

Investigation Into Pollution By Base Metal Mining Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Beaudry said today his department will investigate water pollution caused by base metal mining operations in Canada.

He was replying to a brief presented by the 10 provincial mines ministers. It contained recommendations from the 21st annual conference of the provincial ministers held at Banff last September.

The brief, read by Mines Minister A. Russell Patrick of Alberta said it has been determined that concentration in waters of as low as 600 parts per billion of zinc or 40 parts per billion of copper will kill young salmon.

However, it was not known what effect such concentrations have on other fish or what effect concentrations of other metals have in polluted water.

The mines ministers asked the federal department to carry out research into the problem in conjunction with the fisheries department.

Mr. Beaudry said his department has long recognized the problem and the need for more uniform control by the provinces along with research into the prevention of pollution.

MONITOR WATERS

His department has been monitoring mine waste waters and adjacent stream waters for some time in eastern Canada. Preliminary work now is under way on the effect of coal-mining in the eastern Rockies.

Laboratories will be established, one in eastern Canada, and one in the west to help with the field work. A site for the laboratory in the Maritimes is under consideration and more staff is to be recruited.

"Studies will be well under way during the 1965-66 fiscal year," Mr. Beaudry said.

The provincial ministers also renewed their request for a change in the Income Tax Act to provide that mining taxes and royalties paid to a province be allowed in full as a deductible expense.

Mr. Beaudry replied that this was a question for the finance department, but noted that a Canadian Metal Mining Association suggestion along these lines was getting "sympathetic consideration."

The ministers expressed appreciation for the recent government announcement providing subventions of up to $18,000,000 annually in the next five years for the movement of coal.

Mr. Beaudry said further studies into the long term future of the industry will be carried out.

MR. BEAUDRY

The 138 members attending agreed the BCLA should publish a manual for the guidance of auxiliary volunteers in hospital libraries. The manual was prepared by the hospital library committee and will be available, upon publication, to all hospital libraries.

A second resolution agreed to dissolve the BCLA recruitment committee as its duties have been taken over by the UBC school of librarians. The UBC centre provides an information centre for students interested in the library as a profession.

A resolution to support the Winnipeg Public Library in their presentation of a bid to the Farid commission hearings, was defeated. The bid was to ensure any change in the wording of tariff regulations would not eliminate or curtail the privileges now accorded to public libraries.

NATIONAL

The motion was defeated on the grounds it should be handled at the national level of the library association. Peter Loft, librarian for the Okanagan regional library, said details were sketchy but he thought the tariff regulations concerned the retail and wholesale book trade and equipment imported into the country. Books are now imported at a tax free and equipment is afforded some relief from the 11 per cent tax.

BURNABY

The 55th annual BCLA convention will be held in Burnaby in 1968. An invitation was extended by Mrs. Betty Colyer of the Yukon regional library to hold a conference in Whitehorse. Regulations do not permit doing so, but the executive will look into the possibility of an exception being made.

Mother Cecilia Mary said Monday in Victoria she will appeal to the Vatican against a Roman Catholic Church order to close the Good Shepherd annual shelter. The 73-year-old nun and five other sisters have been in a dispute against the closure order since last Thursday. Mother Cecilia, who built the shelter with money she inherited, has said the church has no authority to close it.

Ladysmith Man Starts Third Term

Alex Smith of Ladysmith, was re-elected Sunday, to his third term as chairman of the trustees section of the B.C. library association.

The election took place in the first day of the two-day convention of the BCLA in Kelowna, May 2.

Gordon Skene of Burnaby was elected vice-chairman and Fred White of Nanaimo, secretary.

Trustees voted at the meeting to hold a seminar for trustees at UBC. The seminar is to cover the duties of a trustee, the responsibility of the library board and the school, finance, and public relations. No date was set.

Ad Men Told Of Challenge

TORONTO (CP)—The advertising industry needs to drop the defensive attitude it has adopted in the past toward its critics, George A. Meen, president of the Association of Canadian Advertisers, said today.

He said in an opening statement for the association's 50th annual meeting that advertising needs to do some communicating about itself in a believable, intelligent fashion.

He said the industry still is facing many challenges and problems.

"There is a need for recognized standards of proficiency, improved research and measurement techniques, better advertiser-agency co-operation and a close watch on ethical practices," Mr. Meen said.

Mr. Meen said advertisers should increase their spending "so that the necessary pressure is maintained in the market place to help keep the economy rolling."

National advertisers would spend about $423,000,000 this year. "This investment is more than double the figure of a decade ago and represents a growth rate which is outstripping the national economy as a whole."

More than 1,200 delegates are expected to attend the three-day conference.

Bonner Says He's Satisfied At Investigations By Police

Attorney General Bonner of B.C. said Monday he is satisfied with the way police are investigating a murder-suicide and two kidnaps involving police.

John Henry Edwards, 50, a Negro odd-jobs man, approached a crowd on a Chicago south side street Monday and saw that seven youths were manhandling two women. Edwards shouted: "Leave those women alone!" He was beaten and kicked to death by the boys, who ranged from 15 to 18. The women, both white, were not badly mauled. The youths, all Negroes, were rounded up by police and were charged with murder.

Resources Minister Laing indicated in Ottawa Monday the 12-a day entry fee for the country's national parks will not be removed because it provides 30 per cent of the department's total park revenues.

Mississippi Pounds At Dikes And Pours Across Farmlands

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—The Mississippi River poured down weakening dikes today in the Hannibal, Mo.-Quincy, Ill. area while water roared over thousands of acres of farmland and through communities from Burlington, Iowa, to Hannibal.

The river is expected to crest today at 216 feet in Hannibal and 245 feet in Quincy.

The Mississippi cut a 10-foot swath half way through a dike on the Illinois side of the river, threatening 42,000 acres including the town of Hull, six miles to the east.

State police said farmers hurried to the scene and threw sand bags and other material into the opening. They said they thought the dike would hold, but the last of Hull's 535 residents have been evacuated.

BRIDGE CLOSED

A levee break closed the Mark Twain Memorial Bridge in Hannibal, Mo. Quincy, Ill. is about 30 miles south of Hannibal, and at Clarksville, Mo.

The river burst two secondary levees Monday near Pleasant Hill, Ill., a community of 850 about 30 miles south of Quincy, and at Clarksville, Mo. Hannibal, with a population of 20,000, and Quincy, with 45,000, are in high ground, not in danger of flooding. Some industries just south of Quincy are threatened, however.

Flood officials have said that the flood danger will diminish when the river crests in the Quincy-Hannibal area. South of Louisiana, Mo., the tide flows into wider river bottoms where

Oginga Odinga

Oginga Odinga, Kenyan vice-president, has been called upon to resign in Nairobi for pro-Communist leanings. Legislators in Nairobi said he was embarrassing the government with his utterances. ECM Growth Falling Off

BRUSSELS (AP)—Economic growth in the European Common Market countries is falling off sharply, except in West Germany, a report covering the period Sept. 1, 1964, to Feb. 1, 1965, disclosed today.

The report said domestic demand in the six-country community has dropped and total output is below normal. Stocks are piling up, but export orders are slightly higher due to a generally favorable world trading situation.

Slackness in domestic markets had led to more cautious assessment of future production in France and Belgium, but in Italy, despite pessimistic reports, some improvement had been noted in the last three months.

Other members of the market are Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

Gordon's Budget Plans Clear Another Hurdle

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon's budget cleared its second—and perhaps final—hurdle of the six-day budget debate Monday night as the government defeated a Conservative no-confidence motion, 111-100.

Seven Social Credit members and independents Leon Balcer and Renu Paul joined with 102 Liberals to vote down the motion that condemned the government for not introducing tax cuts for lower income groups, raising old age pensions and abolishing the sales tax on production machinery.

The standing vote came after Mr. Gordon, in a 25-minute defence of his budget, said support of the no-confidence motion meant a vote against the 10-per-cent cut in the basic income tax, an expanding economy and increased employment.

Another formal vote can be forced before the budget debate is concluded Wednesday but usually the main motion is passed without this.

Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Monday he hopes to make a statement today concerning the government's plans for House business following the budget. Informants say the government is planning to proceed soon with legislation to reform Parliament's rules to speed up the machinery.

Attendance was greater and the vote closer than last Thursday when New Democratic Party non-confidence motion was defeated 106 to 91.

Eleven NDP members and nine Creditists joined with 80 Conservatives on the Monday vote.

Five Conservatives announced they were paired with absent MPs. They were Paul Martineau (Pontiac - Temiscamingue), Hugh John Plummer (Victoria-Carleton), Gerald W. Baldwin (Peace River), R. G. L. Fairweather (York) and Chester J. MacRae (York-Sussex).

Mr. Gordon said that during the four days of debate so far the opposition has had difficulty in criticizing his proposals because in 1964 the Canadian economy had its best year since 1957. The unemployment rate had dropped and the gross national product had increased substantially.

Opposition criticisms had been "sweeping and unjustified," directed at the budget's plans.

Creditist Leader Chabotte denounced a 10-per-cent cut in the basic income tax announced in the budget as an "indirect form of birth control" because it favored single persons and those with small families. He said the budget was anti-family and anti-social.

Elton Williams (PC - Bow River) said at least two-thirds of the population would receive only a cent-a-day tax reduction and rejected the government's "war on poverty" pledge as being a "war on the poor."

New Weapon In War Against Starlings

Starlings which for decades have plagued the east during the past few years have moved into the west in ever increasing numbers. They have become a serious danger to the fruit crops and in the Okanagan growers have waged a not-too-successful war against them. They are probably the most hated of all birds. Their raucous cry and their very stry serve to kindle intense dislike.

However, a story in the Los Angeles Times does spur a bit of hope. The clipping was sent to this newspaper by some unidentified reader who thought Okanagan people would be interested. And here we are.

George Getz, Los Angeles Times science writer, outlined the new hoped-for control in his column:

Chemicals that keep fertilized eggs from developing into embryos may soon be used in California and other states to control the population explosion of starlings and other bird pests.

One such "reproduction inhibitor," a chemical called diazocholesterol dihydrochloride, is being tested in New York City, where it is being fed to pigeons. City health officials hope to reduce the pigeon population of the city, estimated at four or five million birds.

The drug was developed at the University of Missouri by W. H. Elder, head of the department of zoology there. In trials the number of pigeon that hatched was reduced 80 per cent by feeding the birds grain that had been soaked in the chemical.

Adolph Zajanc, associate professor of animal physiology at the University of California at Davis, said the use of reproduction inhibitors to control other bird pests is being studied.

He said there are several different kinds. Some are those like diazocholesterol dihydrochloride that keep eggs from developing. Others make the birds sterile so that the eggs are not fertilized.

Dr. Zajanc said the birth control chemicals are being tested on starlings, blackbirds, sparrows and seagulls.

According to H. A. Merrill, of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, starlings and blackbirds do millions of dollars worth of damage to farm crops each year. In addition to eating the unharvested grain, their droppings are a health hazard, containing fungi and bacteria that are blown about by the wind.

Seagulls, according to Dr. Zajanc, are a hazard at many airports.

"Effective use of reproduction inhibitors with birds like starlings and blackbirds will be much more difficult than with pigeons or sparrows," Dr. Zajanc said.

"Pigeons and sparrows stay in the same place. In a way, they act like domesticated animals, and the chemically-treated feed can be given them over a period of days and weeks.

"With starlings, however, the task will be more complicated. The chemical can be put out in cattle feed lots, where the starlings gather, but who can be sure the same starlings will be back?"

Dr. Zajanc said the problem of controlling the hatching of starling eggs can be overcome, probably by concentrating the chemical feeding at or near the largest roosts.

Pigeons are not the problem in Los Angeles and other California cities that they are in New York. A County Health Department employee said their number has been estimated at 100,000.

Corporation Profits Tax Boosts Old Age Security

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal tax on corporation profits in 1965 may touch $1,850,000,000 on the basis of Finance Minister Gordon's budget forecast in the Commons last week.

But a growing part of this will be turned over to the provinces and will be put into the old age security fund so that the federal government's share of the share of the corporation profits tax will go up only modestly.

Last year—for the fiscal year which ended March 31—the government's revenue from the corporation profits tax was $1,510,000,000. It also took $143,000,000 in the special three-per-cent tax which goes into the old age security fund. And another $124,000,000 was collected which was turned over to provincial treasuries in rebates.

This totalled $1,777,000,000.

RATE UNCHANGED

For the new fiscal year, Mr. Gordon forecast in his budget speech that corporation profits taxes would be in $1,570,000,000 before tax changes. He announced no change in the basic tax rates applying to corporations—21 per cent of taxable corporate income up to $50,000, and 27.5 per cent plus half the amount by which taxable corporate income exceeds $50,000—but he extended and modified some exemptions.

These rates include the three-per-cent old age security tax which on the basis of last year's record would yield $185,000,000. The total federal tax for 1965-66 would be $1,850,000,000. But this figure might well be on the low side.

It does not take into account the effect that a greater-than-anticipated increase in economic growth might have on budgetary revenues in general.

GNP RISES

The gross national product of Canada rose 8.9 per cent in 1964 while Mr. Gordon had predicted in his budget last year that its growth would be only 8 1/2 per cent. Now he is predicting a growth of GNP in 1965 somewhere between seven and 7 1/2 per cent.

During the last six years, the federal government's total tax rate of corporation profits has risen between 3.3 and 3.8 per cent of the gross national product. Last year it was 3.76 per cent.

If the gross national product rises by 7.4 per cent—a figure being used by some authorities—it would aggregate $50,481,000,000 in the calendar year 1965.

Odd Postscript Covers Lusitania

DUBLIN (CP)—A strange postscript to the Lusitania tragedy is being written by Ireland's booming tourist industry.

Seven years ago it was found that the wreck, like a huge natural reef, had attracted a massive concentration of game fish.

Now "fishing over the Lusitania" is a powerful tourist lure, one that has brought prosperity to the once-barren corner of southwest Ireland off which the Cunard liner was torpedoed in May, 1915, with loss of 1,198 lives.

Since the building of Cork airport, international anglers have taken to making a special detour to Kinsale for the summer excursions to the site of the wreck. They are run every day twice daily in fine weather—during the season which lasts from mid-May to September. Sometimes the boats tie up to the buoy marking the site and fish all night.

FISH ARE BIG

"Conger eels are the main thing—big as telegraph poles they are," said an official of Dublin's Irish Tourist Board.

Among outstanding catches he recalled were a skate weighing 204 pounds and several blue sharks of around 170 pounds.

Many of the visiting fishermen are Germans—an irony the Irish shippers are quick to savor. One who had spent some time hunting for the exact position of the wreck told an impatient Teutonic customer:

"Well, you should know where she is—you sunk her."

Some say—and one non-fisherman who went out swears to it—that on a calm day you can see the black shape of the hull and funnels through the water, 182 feet down. But tourist officials consider this a spot of the old blarney.

They also discount the legend of the sunken millions in gold, supposedly locked somewhere in the wreck. "If there had been anything worth having, you can be sure the people of Kinsale would have had it years ago," said one Dublin official wryly.

"They can smell money miles away, so they can."

The British Trades Union Congress called a general strike 30 years ago today—in 1935—in support of coal miners' protests against announcements of pay cuts when government subsidies ended. More than 2,000,000 workers answered the call, but volunteers and military personnel kept essential services going, and the strike was called off nine days later. The government later made sympathy strikes illegal under the Trades Disputes Act (repealed in 1946 by the Labor government.)

VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

Douglas Property New Museum Site

By JAMES E. NEBBITT

VICTORIA—The 1967 Canadian centennial ball is commencing to roll in this capital, headquarters of the British Columbia centennial committee.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett May 6 began the first and for construction of the Centennial Museum of National and Human History in Legislative Square. It will cost between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 and will be a striking addition to our main front door—our beautiful, much photographed harbor entrance.

This imposing edifice will rise on the property where once Sir James Douglas, the founder of Victoria and the father of British Columbia had his residence, surrounded by vegetable gardens, barns and stables, orchard, and flower and shrub.

In later years this choice property has been the civil servants' parking lot.

Old houses by the dozen are now being purchased by the government all around the legislative buildings, and down come those old houses, and the sites are turned into those most hated of modern necessities—parking lots. So it is that the face of dear old James Bay is rapidly changing—towering high-rise apartments, shopping centres, parking lots.

However, you the taxpayers need not worry too much about all this expense for the sake of civil servants. They must pay $3 month into your government, or they park elsewhere, and there's just no all-day parking on the streets anywhere now within a 15-minute walk of the legislative buildings.

The Centennial Pioneer recognition sub-committee has started to work, as have many other committees.

It has been decided that to be a Canadian Centennial pioneer in 1967 a person must have been in Canada in 1867 or before. It is not necessary to have been born in Canada, or to be living in Canada today.

These rules mean that all Canadian Centennial pioneers in 1967 will be 75 years of age, or older. A medal is being struck for the duly registered, authenticated pioneers, and there will be for them celebrations of many kinds. The task of gathering the names will be a formidable one, and a start will be made shortly, everywhere throughout the province.

It's going to be interesting to see how many people this search turns up. Some committee members feel there might be as many as 19,000, since so many have always come, and are now flocking to British Columbia, from all parts of the land.

The bulk of these 75-year-olds, the committee believes, will be found located in the Greater Victoria area, since this is the region of sunshine and flowers, and the best winter climate in all Canada, which is sometimes not necessarily saying a great deal, but still, it is better than anywhere else in the country.

Centennial celebrations usually take a long time to get going, but, once launched and the date fast approaching, they take a great spurt forward, and everyone has a fine time.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

No Machine Yet

Can Exercise You

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

We are two women of 70. What do you think of a mechanical exerciser for older people who find that some of the routines regularly recommended are too exhausting?

We both like to walk, but my friend's feet are so painful that this is impossible.

We live in adjoining apartments and could use the same machine, but would not want to spend the money involved unless we would both benefit as a result—MRS. P.W.S.

I have nothing against such exercise machines, but let's think in terms of basic common sense. The benefit you get from any exercise depends entirely on how much effort you put into it. Don't you agree?

There are rowing machines, and bicycle machines, and weights, and things with pulleys and springs, and a lot of other. All of them are designed to make you do some physical work.

If ordinary exercises (I'm not sure exactly what you have in mind) are too exhausting, any sort of machine that makes you exert the same amount of effort would be just as tiring.

For instance, of course, massage and certain forms of physical therapy can make up, in part, for their lack of exercise, but that's a different matter.

If you are looking for some sort of machine that will give you exercise without making you do any of the work—stop looking.

A machine that demands a lot of energy can be fine for the rugged businessman who is chained to a desk most of the day and wants a hard workout, although (if it wouldn't hurt his dignity) he could get the same amount of exercise by running around the block a certain number of times, chopping wood, climbing himself, doing push-ups or accumulating a lot of rocks and carrying them from one place to side of his yard to the other.

For you, the answer isn't a machine, but exercise of a type and duration which won't exhaust you.

After all, you don't want to build up bulging muscles, I'm sure. You want the amount of exercise which will be good for your health.

You want regular, daily use of your muscles. Walking is excellent. If your friend's feet won't permit that, she can do the simple sort of calisthenics most of us learned in grade school. Bending, stretching, raising, lowering and rotating the arms, even lying on the back and making the legs go through the motions of "pedaling a bicycle."

When such simple exercises start to become exhausting, stop. Try some more later. Exercise helps circulation, the breathing, and even the digestion. It keeps muscles from getting flabby. It makes you feel better.

But whatever the type of exercise (whether cleaning house, walking, or washing clothes or ironing) the right amount of it makes a person feel brisk but not exhausted.

Dear Sir: Is there such a thing as hereditary nerve deafness? Or are the symptoms and cause?—E.J.

Yes, I mean that you have inherited some sort of defect or fault in the auditory nerves—you don't hear as acutely as you otherwise would. This may not be noticeable early in life. There is nothing to do about it, except to take care that the ears are not additionally damaged in other ways, such as by infection.

MRS. M.M.: A rupture in a very small child almost always is the result of a weakness at birth. Crying too much may hasten the trouble, but doesn't cause it.

Churchill's Death Starts Book Flow

LETTER TO EDITOR

THANKS, KELOWNA!

After undertaking the task of preparation and rehearsal of our Dominion Drama Festival entry, The Importance of Being Earnest followed rapidly by the transportation of cast, crew, scenery, and props to our fair city, and culminating in our performance in front of such a receptive audience, we must now sit down and take stock of the whirlwind trip we made to Kelowna and the festival.

The one thing that stands out in all our minds is the overwhelming generosity and kindness with which we were received by every one of you with whom we came in contact.

Nowhere could we have received such a welcome, or been treated so royally as we were in the Land of "Oogopogo." Everyone went "all out" to see that we felt at home. Anything we needed or had failed to bring for our production was made available to us, and our needs were many and varied.

Whatever success we achieved, and whatever experience we gained from our sojourn, has been made doubly richer and more gratifying by our exposure to your hospitality.

From the cast, crew, rector, and from the members of St. Matthias Church as a whole, our most sincere thanks.

Yours faithfully,

NEW YORK (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill's death has touched off a new cycle of enterprise in North America's book-publishing business.

A good many of the current and forthcoming volumes on Churchillian themes were in preparation long before his death.

In fact, several memoirs were held back purposely until the statesman died.

That is true of Winston Churchill: An Intimate Portrait, which will be issued by Harcourt Brace late in May and will be the July selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club.

The 150,000-word volume was written by Violet Bonham Carter, daughter of Lord Aquith, between 1956 and 1964. The author met Churchill in 1906 and has a view of his public and private life as concerned with the period before and during the First World War.

A briefer memoir, My Dear Mr. Churchill, a 118-page book recently published by Houghton Mifflin, was completed by journalist Walter Graebner about 1955 but withheld until now. A personal and intimate impression, it deals with the period following 1945, when Churchill was writing his history of the Second World War.

The Churchill Wit, an 85-page compilation by Bill Adler, was started last year, completed only recently and has been islated in color as well as black and white. Is The Unforgettable Winston Churchill—Giant of the Century, by the editors of Life, distributed by Doubleday.

Another noteworthy item, illustrated in color as well as black and white, is The Unforgettable Winston Churchill—Giant of the Century, by the editors of Life, distributed by Doubleday.

Pruning Often Indicated

We make no comment on the following very fine editorial from The Vernon News:

Newspapers are occasionally taken to task for quoting only excerpts from people's speeches, lifting odd sentences out of context, or ruthlessly slashing away the jungle of verbiage which festoons many public utterances.

The argument seems to be that if the whole content of the utterance were printed in the paper, everything would immediately become crystal-clear, but this is not always the case. Apart from considerations of space, the abbreviated version is often a lot less confusing than the original, in all its glory.

Take this verbatim quotation from our own Mayor Rice at the Okanagan Valley Regional Planning Conference in February, as reported in the minutes:

"Mr. Chairman, I have a question. Mr. Chairman, Mr. Minister, this is the question I am going to ask. I want to preface it very briefly, just in a moment. I have, as I said from the back of the room, great respect for the Minister; I think he has some great ideas for planning here. I have had a number of good talks with him; he will no doubt have thought that I wrote the speech for the 'whooping crane' sitting here beside me. The one who refers to himself as one of the survivors. Since he has talked so dynamically about the very things that I have taken,

Mr. Minister, to you, to your Deputy minister, to Mr. South, we asked for a planned district over a year ago now, we have beaten many paths to Victoria, asking that it be taken forward; some of the ones who sat with us over a year ago en masse, told me last night they were getting terribly frustrated and they wondered why all this delay. But the question I want to ask is, do you feel Dr. Clarke, that from the pollution standpoint it is essential to have the North Okanagan, which is by far the fastest growing section of the province—22.3 per cent in North Okanagan, 12.6 per cent in the South Okanagan and 11.6 per cent in the Central Okanagan, so it is by far the fastest growing section of the Okanagan—as part of a pollution control area as suggested? To be part of the area so that we can work the three regions together."

Translated into newspaper talk, Mayor Rice's question would have come out something like this:

"Mayor Rice asked Dr. D. A. Clarke, South Okanagan Medical Health Officer, if the North Okanagan should be included in pollution control plans for the Valley."

Not so flowery, perhaps, but certainly more to the point.

As the chairman of the conference remarked: "That question took a little too long to ask. Are there any short questions?"

IN PASSING

Giving advice is usually a waste of time. The kind of people who need it are usually the kind who won't take it.

Almost everyone is particularly opposed to the kind of sins he wouldn't get any kick out of committing.

If the people of the United States have an ailment largely peculiar to them, it is undoubtedly itching feet.

Room Dedicated To Area Pioneers: Totem Inn Opens After Face-Lift

PEACHLAND—The Totem Inn Hotel opened the newly built Pioneer Room May 1. This room is dedicated to the pioneers of Peachland and at present a plaque is being made in this effort in Kelowna.

The Pioneer Room is a banquet and ballroom and is to be used for all functions. At opening it is booked for many banquets, a wedding and a church function.

It is equipped with a Discotheque, and is the first installation of its kind in B.C. providing adult stereo dance music, with eighteen speakers in all. A total of 126 may be seated at one time and on Saturday there were 163 to the Smorgasbord. There were 300 in the hotel with the crowd rotating throughout the evening.

The Totem Inn has been re-decorated throughout with additions and improvements.

The Totem Inn was originally built as a residence and on the day the first carload of settlers arrived in Peachland, which was May 8, 1898, Miss Candace McDougald with her parents and relatives had their supper that night in the original building.

At the time, it was being built by Miss McDougald's uncle J. M. Robinson and she recalls them sitting down to supper with the roof not yet on and it started to sprinkle.

Peter Spackman purchased the Edgewater Inn, as it was then known, on Nov. 15, 1951, at that time there were six rooms, two booths and six stools.

After considerable research and interviews with the Indians, Mr. Spackman re-named the Inn the "Totem Inn" and the legend of the "Totem" is on a plaque in the office-entrance to the hotel.

In 1953 the lounge was added and extensive renovations made to the hotel, and in 1958 the licensed public house was built on, with the penthouse added in 1963. Now in 1965 the original Pioneer Room.

Trumpet Band In Wenatchee

VERNON—The Vernon Girls Trumpet Band took part in the Washington State Blossom Festival Parade at Wenatchee.

Forty-two girls travelled with the band and were billeted at the Grand School, East Wenatchee.

They were entertained at a picnic breakfast on arrival. In the afternoon the band played in the bandstand in the Wenatchee Apple Bowl. Mrs. R. Hodgson, one of the chaperones, said it is considered an honor to be invited to play at the bandstand.

This was the first trip for the two new majorettes with the band, Sherry Kennedy and Laurie Sturt. The girls wore their new uniforms. The next trip planned by the Trumpet Band is on May 24, when they will attend the May celebrations in Nanaimo.

Discover how Beaumont re-writes the book on what a family car should be

Time was when you had to sacrifice more than a little comfort, performance and pride of ownership to get a family car at a down-to-earth price. But not any more. Not since Beaumont.

CHAPT. I

ROOMINESS

Beaumont gives you and your family all kinds of room. Thanks to curved side windows and a low transmission hump there's extra room to stretch out and relax in comfort. And its upholstery withstands jumping toddlers, spilled shopping bags, dropped ice cream cones... every kind of punishment... and still looks luxurious.

CHAPT. II

PRACTICAL SIZE

Beaumont's wheelbase measures 115 inches. Long enough to give you a true big car ride. Short enough to make Beaumont more manoeuvrable and easier to park than big cars. And because of its practical overall length and width, it'll fit with room to spare in just about any garage.

CHAPT. III

PERFORMANCE

Beaumont's standard engine has 120 hp. This gives you the right balance between the power you need for safe passing on the highway and the economy you need to keep driving costs down. And if you wish, you may order all the way up to a 350 hp V8.

CHAPT. IV

PRICE

Beaumont is a low-priced car. Not on the borderline... but priced right smack down-to-earth. It's certainly worth looking into. Especially now, during your Beaumont-Pontiac-Buick dealer's "Success Car Sales Celebration". He's offering great deals, top trade-ins. So see him soon. You'll be glad you did.

Favorite Food

Ice cream is one food that has stimulated the imagination of cooks for years. But the original mixture of fruit juice, sweetened milk and melting snow, stirred up in the days of Alexander the Great, were a far cry from the smooth creamy product we know today. And the variety of flavors we enjoy... well Alexander never dreamed of them!

Full of Goodness

And ice cream goes on intriguing cooks to-day, for the new serving twists you can perform are endlessly inviting. Almost makes one forget that ice cream is a nutritious dairy food perfectly able to stand on its own for dessert anytime!

Brownie Alaska

For a touch of elegance, transform brownies and ice cream into a Baked Alaska. Just turn out a panful of uncut brownies onto a foil covered board. Top with a layer of ice cream... vanilla or fresh strawberry are delicious... then cover the top and sides completely with meringue. Bake at 500° F. 4 to 5 minutes, or until golden brown.

Sundae Pie

Ever try serving ice cream at its "sundae" best in a pie shell? Our most popular pies start with a crumb crust. Fill the crust with one or two flavors of ice cream and top with sundae sauce and coconut or chopped nuts. Wrap in foil and tuck away in the freezer for future use. At serving time switch pies to the frig until the ice cream is just soft enough for cutting.

Buffet Beauty

Next time you're entertaining buffet-style, try this special treatment. Choose a pretty container such as a cut glass bowl, large glass snifter, or fancy salad bowl. Pile it high with scoops of ice cream, using several flavors. Then tuck nuts, fresh strawberries and cubes of pineapple between the scoops!

Scooping Success

The scoops for your buffet bowl will be firm and easy to handle if you make them the day before the party. Freeze them side by side on a foil covered cookie sheet until ready to use. Scoops can also be rolled in coconut, fine chocolate, walnuts, or crushed peppermint stick candy and served with hot fudge sauce.

PETER'S PATER

with PETER MUNOZ

The Okanagan Junior Hockey League could hardly be depicted as a social organization. On the meetings are meant to be conducted in a formal fashion, using parliamentary procedure, but somehow the principals usually manage to skirt this trivial vestige of decorum.

Thus the claims of what they would consider the best junior hockey league in B.C. carry on in a three-ring circus tradition. They would have to raise among the bottom in any poll to determine the most progressive organization in this province, and probably all of Canada. They are about one step away from utter chaos.

Over the past season a league meeting was like a gabfest among the kids on the neighborhood block where everyone outshouts each other. Naturally the guy with the loudest voice makes the most noise.

There's no doubt about it, while the calibre of the game on the ice is rapidly improving and the people of the Okanagan-Mainland area are supporting the league, the administration hasn't kept pace. It's like junior hockey with a peewee directorship.

A case in point was the pre-playoff meeting when the representatives from the four clubs used the baiters on the officiating staff. It all came about when they were asked their views on playoff officials. That blew the valve. Only one or possibly two referees were spared the roasting their colleagues suffered.

The majority of the officials used during the regular season were dragged over the coals. Many were eventually eliminated from playoff work and some grudgingly accepted when it was realized there wouldn't be enough tactics to work the games if the preferred only were used.

Initially this part of the meeting was not for publication. But the league officers lifted the lid themselves at the league's annual meeting last week. Since they've made it public we no longer consider we have any obligation to hold back. They bawled about the names of officials and events leading up to most of the executive's resignation last February and this time they didn't ask it be off the cuff.

Perhaps the oddest aspect to the whole sordid mess was that there wasn't a voice there "officially" representing the officials. The league's referee-in-chief, who was on hand for the earlier part of the meeting, suddenly disappeared before the subject came up.

Someone questioned whether his presence wouldn't be desirable but it wasn't considered serious enough to warrant delay. And so the witch hunt began. Representatives from each of the four clubs took their turn on the floor to denounce one ref or another in one or more cities.

All were equally guilty in this indignation. And what could be worse, for who could be less objective than coaches and managers of these clubs. They are naturally all biased. Each had his likes and dislikes and all sang out.

Trouble with this organization is that everyone blows his own horn. All say lip service to the fact that what's good for the league is good for all its members. But past meetings prove differently.

Now all this can and must change. With a new executive and with the lesson of the past season, perhaps the members will read the writing on the wall. It's going to be a tough challenge for the new president. He may have to rule with an iron hand and still be fair. Some say Dave McKay can do this. Time will tell. But he can't do it alone. Progress is the result of collective co-operation. They'd better find the way for the sake of junior hockey in these parts.

Chance With Blister Still Too Much For Red Sox Bats

By MURRAY CHASE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Chance, his blistering fast ball getting the better of his blistering finger, doesn't need an understudy.

Chance, in fact, gave an award-winning performance Monday night as Los Angeles Angels edged Boston Red Sox 3-0.

The 23-year-old right hander pitched perfect ball for five innings and hitless ball for seven before winding up with a four-hitter for his second victory against no defeats.

Angels' manager Bill Rigney apparently didn't expect his ace to put on such a show. Chance has been plagued this spring by a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand, and Rigney had George Brunet warming up for the first three innings.

After Chance retired the first 15 Red Sox, Ed Bressoud led off the sixth inning with a grounder to first baseman Costen Shockley. Chance raced to cover first, but Shockley's throw was wide.

Six consecutive outs later, former team-mate Lee Thomas started the eighth with a line single to right field, breaking up Chance's bid for a no-hitter.

SHAVES E.R.A.

The victory, in which he reduced his earned run average from 3.27 to 2.32, kept Chance exactly even with the 1964 season that carried him to a 20-9 record and the Cy Young award.

Award as the majors' best pitcher.

In the only other games played, Kansas City Athletics defeated Washington Senators 5-3 in the American League and St. Louis Cardinals stopped San Francisco Giants 3-1 in the National.

The Angels scored their lone run with the help of an error in the third inning. Jose Cardenal led off with a single and raced all the way home when centre-fielder Lenny Green let Albie Pearson's single get by him for an error.

Successive home runs by Nellie Mathews and Ken Harrelson off Pete Hitchert in the second inning started Kansas City on its way. The Senators' Ken McMullen gave the Athletics two runs on his bases-loaded error in the fourth but then drove in two himself with a homer and a single.

Curt Simmons pitched a five-hitter, allowing the Giants only Willie Mays' sixth homer of the year in the ninth. The Cardinals scored twice in the sixth on consecutive singles by Tito Francona, Ken Boyer, Bill White and Phil Gagliano before Tim McCarver bounced into the season's second triple play.

Pitcher Ron Herbel took McCarver's tap back to the mound and threw to Jose Pagan for the force on Gagliano at second. Pagan's relay to Willie McCovey nailed McCarver at first, and McCovey completed the play by firing to catcher Tom Haller for the out on White, trying to score from second.

Sunday Races Officially Open 1965 Kelowna Sailing Season

Nine craft sailed out Sunday afternoon and inaugurated the 1965 season for the sailing division of the Kelowna Yacht Club.

Two races highlighted the afternoon. Footloose II, skippered by John Foote, was first in the opener. Second spot went to White Cap, piloted by Frank Turton and Ginger, with Hugh Earle at the helm, was third.

In the second event, George Kirkwood guided Bolt From The Blue to first place. Runner-up was Cosa Nostra, bossed by David Ley. Hugh Earl brought Ginger into another third place in this race.

Starters for the races were Ken Bruce and Marion Earle assisted by members of the Sea Rangers. Standing by on safety patrol, with his power boat was Dr. John Harland of the Power Squadron, assisted by members of the Sea Scouts. A tug well come was issued to the Sea Scouts, who were out racing with their sailboat for the first time.

The next races will be held Sunday, May 16, starting at 2 p.m.

The junior sailing program continues Thursday 7:30 p.m. in the Yacht Club with a session on "Rules of the Road" and "Racing Tactics" by Maple Leaf Gardens today.

Legion, CKOV Score Babe Ruth Victories

In Babe Ruth League baseball openers Monday night Legion defeated Lions 5-3 and CKOV trounced Kinsmen 13-7.

Alvin Whittle led Legion with two hits, a double and single, in four trips to the plate while Shane Jessop went two-for-three for Lions. Ted Gellert was the winning hurler and Allan Koehle was tagged with the loss in the game played at Elks Stadium.

In the other contest at Babe Ruth Park, Ron Fyle collected four-for-five in CKOV's win. Jim Monteith hit three-for-four for Kinsmen.

Illo Bertolant was the winning pitcher. Gary Podmoroff suffered the loss.
